Hindi Movies.[Frequency of drug hypersensitivity syndrome in China]. Drug hypersensitivity syndrome (DHS) is a severe clinical disease with few effective treatment methods. There is a lack of information about the frequency of DHS in China. This study was conducted to investigate the frequency of DHS among patients in Guangzhou, China. All hospitalized patients in Guangzhou were enrolled from March to September in 2011. The inclusion criteria were as follows: (1) confirmed diagnosis of DHS according to the criteria of the Ministry of Health and the Committee on Safety of Medicines (China), (2) age \geq 18 years, (3) patients had taken one or more drugs in the past 2 weeks. Patients were excluded if they had taken cyclosporine A, ginkgo biloba, thalidomide, and etoposide. The frequency of DHS was calculated according to the number of hospitalized patients
